All That Kids Can Be

Each year, United Way reviews and invests in one of its three priority areas. In 2012, applications will be accepted for the priority area All That Kids Can Be, which invests in programs that encourage children and youth to reach their full potential.

Applicants must provide program outcomes that contribute to one of the following:

- Increase activities and opportunities to learn during out-of-school time; and
- Increase access to appropriate housing and nutritious foods, specifically for children and youth.

The deadline for applications is Friday March 2, 2012.
