Three United Ways in Niagara Discuss Amalgamation

Released: Wednesday, January 18, 2012

St. Catharines – The three United Ways across the region have been collaborating in a number of ways over the last few years. For example, common marketing materials, pledge forms and coordinating employee campaigns in regional organizations across Niagara. Recently a steering committee consisting of board members and executive directors from all three United Ways have been having a frank and open discussion about building stronger strategic alliances between the United Ways. To this end we are exploring options for amalgamation, to consolidate the strengths of all three organizations to better serve Niagara residents, donors and agencies. All three United Ways are committed to working together to build a stronger Niagara and any proposed changes would be shared with our stakeholders.
